Just when you think Old Man Economy's got everyone down, a new eatery pops up to reinvent your restaurant routine! NY yelpers have been pounding the pavement to keep up with grand openings in our fair city, and we've got the reviews to prove it. So what and where are these tasty new culinary nuggets, you ask? Read on, hungry yelper, then eat on!

In the city with everything, Meryl C is devoted to the "truly amazing" debutante of the season: Asian fusion beauty Sho Shaun Hergatt in the FiDi, complete with staff that go "above and beyond the call of duty" in the name of amuse bouche! Lora C found true happiness off Orchard at Bia Garden, a new Vietnamese beer garden that tempts even the most nifty patrons with

ON THE

Lucky for Trattoria Cinque, Bartholomew K is just "glad to have a new place close to his pad" in Tribeca with bartenders pouring lots of Mad Dog shots. Yelp!

As far as neighborhood newbs, it's not always easy to score a 5-star reception when setting foot on fresh turf. Fortunately, Shawn A "can't help but be damn glad" Sweet Afton came to Astoria; with burgers boasting La Frieda beef and a "borderline pretentious beer selection," it's a gathering place for all seasons. Lucky for Trattoria Cinque, Bartholomew K is just "glad to have a new place close to his pad" in Tribeca with bartenders pouring lots of Mad Dog shots. Yelp! And then there's "Gina La Fornarina that has been open for 6 days; Cara A has eaten there 3 times." It could be the "heavenly little pizzas" or some hunky waiters, but either way she's not giving up carbs anytime soon!

"Anything with the word 'suckling' in it commands certain expectations" and the pig at new West Side sister to Yerba Buena doesn't disappoint Mark S one bit. When all that suckling works up a thirst, head to nearby Su Casa where Elena V "slinks to pre-drink." Who knows, you may just end up at a new friend's casa at the end of the evening!
